

Quick Write

People who are “left-brained” are punctual (on time), they remember people’s names and numbers, are very logical, and are rational- they believe that everything has a purpose.

People who are “right-brained” are emotional, last minute, can remember faces but not always the names of people, are artistic and enjoy music.

After reading the assignment, you will need to fill in the “Quick Write, Quick Draw” outline without looking back at the reading. On the left side of the paper write everything you can remember from the article. On the right side of the paper draw images showing what you remember about the article.
